

The Colliders

A vintage-style illustration of a rocket launch. A large red rocket with yellow and white stripes is ascending into a blue sky with white clouds. Below it, a yellow and red rocket is also launching, and a blue rocket is visible in the distance. In the foreground, a young boy in a white shirt and blue pants and a young girl in a blue dress are looking up at the rockets. The scene is set in a launch area with various structures and equipment.

The Roots of Rock and Roll

The Stein Room
Friday

April 20th
8:30-10:30 PM